

ABSTRACT

A security system is provided that can prevent a computer in operation to be used illegally. When judging that an ID code
5 matching an ID code stored in the ID information holder 101 is not received and that the time period measured by the time measurer 106 exceeds a predetermined value, the controller 107 ends the operating system working in the PC 100.

10021051.121504